DETROIT (AP) — Federal authorities dug deeper today into what they called "a national scheme" involving well-known football, baseball and horse racing figures following the arrest of 10 men in gambling raids in Michigan and Nevada.

No widely known sports figures were arrested in the New Year's Day raids, but the U.S. attorney's office said it had gained information linking professional athletics with gambling.

Won't Name Figures

U.S. Attorney James H. Brickley and a special assistant, James E. Ritchie, declined to name the sports figures.

Brickley said Jerome "Dizzy" Dean, onetime pitching ace of the St. Louis Cardinals, and his Las Vegas hotel room were searched under a warrant which officials said allowed them to look for "wagering records, wagering paraphernalia, consisting of bet slips, rundown sheets, account sheets, recap sheets, money used in or derived from a wagering operation" and other instruments.

Dean Not Held

Dean who was not held, said in Las Vegas he was questioned about people he knew.

"I can't be involved in it because I don't know anything about it," he said.

Dean said he had met briefly one of those arrested, "but I don't know these guys, I never heard of them."

"In a year I come across a lot of people. I don't always know who I am talking with," Dean said.

Neither Bowie Kuhn, commissioner of baseball, nor pro football Commissioner Pete Rozelle was available for comment.

A spokesman for Kuhn said the baseball commissioner would have no comment until he has a chance to read the report. Spencer Drayton, president of the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Bureau, was asked about the implication that famous racing names were involved.

"They'd have to name them first before I'd have anything to say about it," he said.

Brickley said the warrant to search Dean and his room was obtained "on evidence implying he had a connection" with some of those arrested. He declined to say whether anything had been confiscated in the search of Dean.

Records Confiscated

Brickley told a news conference: "As a result of these raids, the government now has in its possession a great deal of records and additional evidence linking with this conspiracy a number of additional people, including well-known figures in the sports and horse racing world."

This information has resulted in a "continuing investigation of national gambling activities," he said.

Ritchie said: "Statements made by some of those arrested and seized records indicate a national scheme involving famous figures in baseball and football and hundreds of trainers and jockeys at racetracks throughout the United States."

Some 50 Internal Revenue Service agents, along with Detroit and Michigan State Police, were involved in the raids, which Brickley said resulted in the confiscation of $620,000 in cash and checks, three automobiles and "a vast quantity" of betting records.

State Man Arrested

Fritz Lindstrom, arrested in Las Vegas, and the nine arrested in Michigan were charged with "use of interstate communications facilities in furtherance of gambling" and with conspiracy to violate federal gambling laws.

Lindstrom, 64, a Phoenix, Ariz., real estate operator, posted $10,000 bond Friday at his arraignment before a U. S. commissioner in Las Vegas.

Brickley said a 23-man federal grand jury sitting in Detroit soon will hear testimony from sports figures and alleged bookmakers to "determine the effect of their associations." He added that some Michigan businessmen had bet "as much as $10,000 a day with the syndicate."

Among those arrested in Michigan, Brickley listed Isaac "Ike" Johns of Lansing in whose home raiders reported finding $171,000 in currency and gambling records. Brickley said Johns, 57, "has no employment that we know of."

Courts No Help:

Major Crimes Up In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Murder, rape and robbery reached an all-time high in the nation's capital in 1969 and many Washington law enforcement officers say there will be no slowdown until Congress acts and court attitudes change.

Police Chief Jerry V. Wilson released charts labeled to show that crime turned upward here in 1963 after investigative arrests were stopped and accelerated even faster after the Supreme Court decision in the Escobedo case in 1964 and the Miranda case in 1966.

These decisions established strict rules regarding questioning, arrests and subsequent interrogation of suspects and the manner in which confessions could be taken and used in court.

For the district police officer, Washington's Bail Reform Act is a major headache. "It's murder," one officer said.

The act makes it mandatory that the court release the accused on his own recognizance, if unable to post bail, if he has ties in the community. A recent court decision prohibits the suspect's danger to the community.

Clogged criminal courts have caused some judges to dismiss cases, another officer said, and he cited the instance where a prosecution witness was not immediately available and the "judge dismissed the case and a stickup man walked out scot-free."

Many officers who feel courts have been too lenient in the past point to what happened in 1969 when bank robberies decreased drastically.

Last January 19 financial institutions were robbed; then a bank robber was sentenced to 45 years-to-life and another one had his bail fixed at $250,000. Statistics released by Wilson show that bank robberies dropped to two the next month. At year's end the bank robbery total stood at only 50 compared with 102 in 1968.

President Nixon's proposed legislation for controlling crime in the District, already approved by the Senate, is awaiting action in the House. It calls for court reform and new wiretap and search warrant powers.

Draft Officials Eying Changes

Uniform Plan For U. S. Seen As Solution

WASHINGTON (AP) — Draft officials are considering changes in the way they allocate monthly manpower quotas to local boards if necessary to make sure lottery numbers are called uniformly throughout the nation.

A spokesman said there were no definite plans and officials want to see how the new lottery system actually works before deciding whether changes are needed in the monthly allocation method.

Critics have expressed fears that local conditions could cause some draft boards to reach high up the list of lottery numbers established in a drawing here Dec. 1, while other boards still are tapping lower numbers.

At present, the Defense Department sets a yearly quota of men to be drafted, then issues monthly calls aimed at eventually filling that quota.

The monthly Pentagon calls are divided up among the states by the national Selective Service headquarters; state directors then further allocate the calls to each local board.

At both levels, the allocation is proportional to the number of men in each state's or local board's draft pool—that is, the number of men who are classified 1-A or 1-A-0 and have been examined and qualified for service.

The change being considered would allow state directors to ignore strict proportionality among local boards month-by-month, and distribute draft calls in some way that would keep all the boards calling up roughly the same lottery numbers at the same time.

Each board would, however, still provide a proportional share of the manpower based on its draft pool, because it would be given an annual quota to meet—so, over the whole year, proportional allocation would still be respected.

Nixon Told:

Pollution Tools Not Sharp Enough

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has announced a top priority for the attack on pollution, but some critics contend the tools available for the fight have blunt edges and broken handles.

"Federal efforts are scattered, tied to under-funded programs and largely ineffective," says a report compiled by the Democratic Study Group for some 140 members of the House, mostly liberals.

"Critics rightly conclude that we have neither a national policy on the environment nor the ability to protect the public interest," the report continues. "Few national problems are handled with such a diffusion of administrative attention and responsibility."

For instance, present antipollution law enforcement and programs are scattered through nine cabinet-level agencies, the President's office and a serpentine lineage of interagency committees and boards.

In the House alone, six different committees consider environmental legislation. And crucial decisions in this area, as in all others, is made by yet a seventh committee, appropriations.

Nixon, in signing a bill to create the Council on Environmental Quality, said New Year's Day that antipollution is a "now or never task." But some congressmen fear the council could be just another complication in trying to solve the problem.

The council is looked on as building environmental considerations into presidential decisions. It will not figure in day to day head-banging over pollution. Further emphasis on the problem will come in the President's State of the Union message later in the month.

Opponents of this and other councils in principle see these bodies as seeking the lowest common denominator among several departmental points of view. "More bureaucracy need not bring more action," said Rep. Leonard Farbstein, D-N.Y., when the council bill cleared the House.

Stacks of antipollution legislation lie in Congress. Included are bills against fuel additives, stricter pollution limits for air and water, and one measure which would reorient the fight for clean water by taxing polluters on the volume of wastes they dump into streams.

As for Congress, the DSG recommends creating at least, a sole, joint committee to deal with the congressional side of the issue.

White Cemetery New Burial Site For Negro GI

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Pfc. Bill Terry, a Negro soldier killed in Vietnam last July, is being reinterred today in a formerly all-white cemetery. His mother and 16-year-old wife obtained a court order to buy the burial plot near his boyhood home.

A brief service is planned at Our Lady of Fatima Roman Catholic Church after the coffin is removed from all-Negro Shadow Lawn Cemetery.

"We don't plan anything elaborate and don't anticipate a large crowd or any excitement," said the Rev. Eugene Farrell.

Terry, 20, asked that he be buried in Southlawn Cemetery if he did not survive the war. His mother said it can be seen from the porch of his boyhood home.

Elmwood officials said restrictive clauses in contracts with other property owners limited sales of plots to whites. A federal court ruled last week that the cemetery could not bar Negroes because of their race. Cemetery officials said they would not appeal.

Father Farrell, white pastor of the predominantly Negro parish, helped Terry's mother and wife in their five-month court action.

"The cemetery people were very cordial and helpful when we went to pick a site after the ruling," Father Farrell said.

Missile Plan Expansion Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration, narrow victor in its fight last summer for the Safeguard missile defense system, is considering expansion of the program because of a reported Soviet missile buildup.

Intelligence information that the Russians are continuing their deployment of the huge SS9 missile on a "methodical basis" has some key Pentagon officials convinced that Safeguard should be expanded.

The SS9 is feared capable of knocking out the U.S. Minuteman missiles in a surprise attack, which would destroy much of the U.S. deterrent. The Russians, according to current reports, have more than 250 SS9s operational or under construction, up from the 230 estimate last May.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has warned Congress that if the Russians continue installing the SS9 at this rate, they could have about 420 by 1974-1975 and the capability of destroying 95 per cent of the 1,000 Minutemen in underground launch silos.

A move to expand the anti-missile project beyond the limited first phase approved last summer would almost certainly raise another bitter Senate fight. And some authorities fear it might hurt the arms limitation talks.

Yankees Repel Da Nang Attack

SAIGON — (AP) — American infantrymen defending a hilltop position south of Da Nang repelled an enemy attack early today and inflicted heavy casualties on the attackers.

The U.S. Command said seven Americans and 29 enemy soldiers were killed when the enemy assaulted the outpost 108 miles south of Da Nang. Twelve other U.S. soldiers were wounded. It was the third enemy attack this week to cause serious American casualties. The outpost was manned by troops of the American Division's 11th Brigade.

Striking about midnight, the enemy troops attacked under cover of a 60-round mortar barrage that pinned down the defenders. They charged the perimeter firing rifles and machine guns, and the fight lasted four hours.

The commander of another American Division company was relieved because enemy sappers slipped through the perimeter of his unit's night defensive position during the New Year's cease-fire, killing eight Americans and wounding five others.

"The battalion commander felt the company commander failed to observe, order and supervise the proper night defensive procedures," a division spokesman said today. The attack was the most costly incident during the allied New Year's truce. The officer was not identified.

Strike Talk Set

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Contract talks are scheduled to resume today in another effort to settle a Grand Rapids bus strike which began Dec. 23. James Mackraz, a federal mediator, said the talks "could go all weekend" as Local 868, Amalgamated Transit Union and the Grand Rapids City Coach Lines Inc. tried to resolve the strike.

Vice President Details Troop Plans For Asia

BANGKOK (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said today President Nixon would not send U.S. combat troops to Asia "without congressional approval and unless some very extreme, provocative and substantial action took place."

Agnew gave this as a reason for the administration's endorsement of the curb voted by Congress last month on possible use of American ground troops in Laos or Thailand.

Speaking to reporters on Air Force Two, Agnew said Nixon's support of the curb "indicated the President's conviction that we would not become involved in any other combat activities with our troops in Asia unless some very extreme, provocative and substantial action took place that might make it necessary for him to seek re-evaluation by the Congress."

At the same time, the vice president disclosed that the Asian leaders with whom he has talked so far, rather than fearing subversion and infiltration, are afraid of "total attack, not infiltration—an unmistakable attack by another power which would be an act of war."

While he did not say so precisely, the implication of Agnew's words was that any U.S. action to carry out its treaty commitments in Asia, barring a massive external attack, would be confined to naval and air forces.

Agnew talked with reporters en route from Taipei, Formosa, where he met with President Chiang Kai-shek. He praised Thailand's "self-reliant attitude" in supporting South Vietnam while "simultaneously combatting armed Communist insurgents within its own borders by using its own forces."

After receiving full military honors at Bangkok Airport, Agnew went downtown and, an hour later, went to the Chitralada Palace for an audience with King Bhumibol and Queen Sirikit.

Nixon's Budget Director Makes Final Wrapup

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon's budget director was at the Western White House today for conferences described as "a final wrapup on the budget" Nixon will send to Congress this month.

Robert P. Mayo flew in Friday for meetings in the presidential offices near Nixon's seaside home. The budget, due during the last week of January, will be about $200 billion.

Sen. George Murphy also arranged to meet with Nixon today. The California Republican is heading for a physical check-up at San Diego.

Ronald L. Ziegler, White House press secretary, said the Nixon-Murphy meeting had nothing to do with the senator's health or his political future.

Murphy, whose voice has been affected by throat surgery, is expected to seek re-election this year.

2 State Newsmen On Pulitzer Panel

NEW YORK (AP) — Two Michigan newspapermen were named today to the 43-man panel which will screen Pulitzer Prize nominees in 1970. They are Glen A. Boissonneault, editor of the Flint Journal, and Wilbur Elston, associate editor and editorial page director of the Detroit News.

The 43 will screen nominations for the prizes to be awarded on the first Monday in May by Columbia trustees. They are made in 10 categories, including a new one this year—distinguished criticism or commentary in an American newspaper. Deadline for nominations is Feb. 1.

Outlook For The Decade:

Greater Management Of Resources Needed

(Fifth of a Series)

The Hiawatha National Forest looks to the 1970s as an opportunity to build on the progress made during the 1960s. The purpose of National Forest management is to meet the needs of people through the use of the natural resources; timber, recreation and wildlife and to do this without damage to soil and water.

Fire Protection—Larry Haack: Protection of the Forest from fire is the forester's first responsibility. The objective is to keep the area burned to the lowest acreage possible, but within a cost not to exceed the values protected.

During the 70s, greater use of aircraft will be made for detection and suppression of forest fires. Newer and more economical equipment is being developed to lessen the hazards created by timber cutting operations and to construct fire breaks.

In all fire control activities, prevention is the most important. People cause fires and only people can prevent them. A fire which does not start destroys nothing and saves tax dollars.

Timber Management and Wildlife—Evans Lutz:

The 60s was a decade of preparation. The Hiawatha started logging products from plantations established in the 30s. This will continue. Timber cut from these plantations will triple. Sawlog cut from the National Forest will nearly double. Early commercial thinning will also be done in hardwood stands and will result in larger quality trees sooner. All of this will provide more jobs and yield a higher return to the counties.

White pine blister rust has been the scourge of the white pine in the Upper Peninsula. The past decade saw the successful cross breeding of blister rust resistant individuals. The 70s will see the introduction of these resistant seedlings into the forest. White pine may once again become "King of the North."

During the 60s, superior trees of many species were located and identified. They are faster growing and have better form than average. During the 70s, offspring from superior trees will be planted. This will enable foresters to grow quality sawlogs and veneer logs in a shorter time.

There are many other ways in which timber management will be intensified. The expanding population requires more wood products and ways must be found to obtain a higher volume of wood from the same area of land.

The 70s will see intensified wildlife management on the Hiawatha. The expanded population that required more wood products will also require more wildlife to hunt or fish for or just to watch. Much of the Hiawatha's wildlife management will be accomplished through timber sales. However, permanent openings will be created: waterfowl management facilities will be established; areas will be set aside for the protection of endangered species such as the Greater Sandhill Crane; and Deer yards will come under intensive management. The 60s saw the re-introduction of the pine marten in the Upper Peninsula; the 70s should see the establishment and successful reproduction of these valuable furbearers.

Recreation—Bob Clayton:

In the past decade, recreation in the Hiawatha National Forest increased from 481,500 visitor days in 1960 to 1,643,500 in 1969. During peak periods, public camp and picnic grounds were often unable to satisfy the demand for accommodations. In the 70s this upward surge will continue.

The introduction of new recreation vehicles in the 60s has added to the expanding and diversified outdoor recreation activities. Snowmobiles, motorbikes, dune buggies and swamp buggies now make possible visits to land and water areas which a few years ago were inaccessible except by foot. With the increased use of the back-country, it will become necessary to restrict use in some areas to avoid conflicts and to protect the environment.

Camping, picnicking and related activities will demand more and more area. Commercial and private developments will be needed to meet the demands of the future and supplement public facilities. The Forest Service has been fortunate in acquiring some outstanding areas with high quality recreation potential, including the Maywood tract on Stonington peninsula, Chicago Lake, Skeels Lake and Petes Lake tracts. Hopefully, the 70s will see a release of federal funds for the development of these newly-acquired areas.

During the decade ahead more emphasis will be placed on policing of National Forest recreation areas to meet the increase in vandalism and littering. Unless funds permit this intensified management, it may be necessary to close some smaller developed sites to concentrate attention on the larger areas.

The trend of placing public areas on a "pay-as-you-use" basis will continue.

Soil and Water—Roger Johnson:

Larger demands upon natural resources are inevitable with increasing population, leisure time, and demand for forest products. The land base of the United States is "fixed", and still we continue to not only utilize "wild" land for specific purposes to the exclusion of other uses, but to literally "destroy" land through pollution.

Every minute of each day we lose five acres of green space to highways, shopping centers, housing, factories, and urban sprawl. By the next century we will have become a nation of 300 million Americans. This is ten New York cities or 54 Washington, D.C.'s. We will need twice as much water as is needed now and one-third more food.

The 70s will be a decade of increased emphasis on soil management. Increased quality and production in growing forest trees and lower unit costs when constructing a campground are but two benefits realized when the land manager plans developments commensurate with soil capabilities. A very important aspect will be utilization of the soil as an anti-pollutant for waste water treatment. In the future, waste treatment plants can utilize a system of spraying over the land which will not only cleanse the water but also turn the pollutant into useful products as it stimulates vegetative growth.

The end of the 60s was characterized by national awareness of and public support for anti-pollution control. During the 70s, our need for quality water will increase 25 per cent. We must maintain the present quality of our water while increasing the quantity. Water monitoring stations will be developed and accurate measurements recorded to determine changes in the water quality. Management plans are being made specifically designed for increasing water yields and affecting the timing of these yields.

National Forest management and all land management activities must become more intensified in the 70s. If we are to approach the 21st century with confidence that we can continue to enjoy a land of plenty, more of us need to become dedicated to the principle of conservation through wise use.

DURING THE 1970s, more people will be using the developed camp and picnic grounds of the National Forest. Little Bass Lake on the Manistique district of the Hiawatha provides outdoor recreation for many but still retains its wilderness atmosphere. (U. S. Forest Service Photo)

Snowmobilers Get Warning From State

EAST LANSING (AP) — Snowmobiling in Michigan is in trouble, says Col. Fredrick Davids, Michigan State Police director.

At least, the sport is on a fast track headed in the wrong direction, Davids said.

"In the past several weeks, 10 people have been killed in snowmobile accidents and the winter season has just begun," Davids said.

"If this disproportionate fatality rate continues, this motorized sport will gain the reputation as a killer and attract only the foolhardy and reckless," he said.

Davids said the fatalities included five victims of drowning after their snowmobiles plunged through thin ice. Another five were killed in accidents involving other vehicles or objects.

During the 1968-69 winter season, Davids said, there were 573 known snowmobile accidents with 562 persons injured and 11 deaths.

So far this winter, the death rate is running far ahead of last year, he said.

Davids said law enforcement agencies have been lax in enforcing existing laws governing the motor powered snow buggies. Accident reports are sketchy and slowly processed, adding to the lack of information surrounding the problem, he said.

He said there is a lack of parental responsibility accounting for some of the accidents.

"When a parent will allow a child to operate this sort of machine, unattended and often unskilled, the consequences are tragically predictable," the State Police head said.

Mature judgment, responsible operation and a knowledge of the rules can help make snowmobiling a safer sport, Davids said.

He suggested those driving the vehicles obtain a copy of the department of state booklet on registration and use of the vehicles, available at all State Police posts.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley agreed with Davids that present laws should be respected and could stand a review.

"While it is a wonderful sport, it does have dangers," Kelley said.

One main problem, he said, is that many snowmobile operators don't know the present laws. These include provisions that the vehicles: —May not be operated on the main travelled part of any roadway, except under permits for special events. —Must be operated at a reasonable speed for existing conditions. —May not be driven across freeways. —Must not be driven by a person under the influence of alcohol or drugs.

Hess' Release In Soviet Hands

BERLIN (AP) — The United States, Britain and France will ask again that the Kremlin agree to release Rudolf Hess, the one-time deputy of Adolf Hitler.

But the timing of such a move depends a great deal on Hess' health, particularly his response to hospital treatment of a bleeding ulcer. If surgery becomes necessary, the allied request could come soon, regardless of political reasons for going slow.

The political factors include an allied dialogue with Moscow on Berlin tension, and other East-West contacts. But there is a growing international clamor to release Hess on humanitarian grounds.

When the request comes, it will be the 19th time the allies have asked the Soviet Union to let Hess go free.

Hess, now 75, has been in Berlin's Spandau war crimes prison since receiving a life sentence at Nuremberg in 1946. On Nov. 24 he was moved to the British military hospital.

All three allies—but particularly Britain in whose West Berlin sector he is held—want Hess released so that the problem of his confinement can be eliminated. He is the sole remaining prisoner in the four-power prison. There is also the possibility that Hess could die in prison or the hospital and "no one wants that," one source said.

Soviet refusal to free Hess is based on three points:

1. They wanted Hess sentenced to death at Nuremberg and have not changed their minds.
2. Hess is the last symbol of conquered Nazi Germany still in custody.
3. They say that when Hess flew to Britain in 1941, he sought peace so Hitler could have a free hand against Russia.

State Liquor Profits Grow

LANSING — The State of Michigan earned a record $118.6 million from the sale, licensing and taxing of alcoholic beverages during the fiscal year ending last June 30, the Michigan Department of Commerce (MDC) reported today.

State Commerce Director Richard E. Whitmer said the MDC's Liquor Control Commission (LCC) increased its net revenue by nearly $6 million or 5.5 per cent compared to the previous year.

LCC Chairman Stanley Thayer of Ann Arbor said gross receipts totaled $334.5 million while costs amounted to $215.9 million.

The largest single expenditure — $203.5 million — was for the purchase of alcoholic beverages, licensing and taxing went to the State of Michigan while $4.1 million was returned to cities, villages and townships for enforcing provisions of the Liquor Control Act.

Michigan residents consumed about one million gallons more of alcoholic liquors of more than 16 per cent alcoholic content than they did during the previous year while beer consumption declined by nearly 800,000 gallons.

In a related action, Gov. William G. Milliken has signed into law a bill to amend the Michigan Liquor Control Act and its provisions regarding the restrictions concerning issuance of liquor licenses within 500 feet of schools and churches.

The bill will exempt from the restriction SDM (specially designated merchant) licensees who do not sell beverages on the premises.

The bill also will allow the Liquor Control Commission of the Michigan Department of Commerce to waive the 500 foot restriction and award various other types of licenses if there are no objections filed by church or school officials within the area and after a hearing if such an objection is filed.

Daley Still Not Called As Riot Trial Witness

CHICAGO (AP) — Mayor Richard J. Daley's appearance as a defense witness in the trial of seven men charged in connection with disorders at the time of the 1968 Democratic National Convention has been delayed again, until Tuesday.

The defense announced Friday in U.S. District Court that because of the length of testimony by Abbott "Abbie" Hoffman, one of the defendants, Daley would not be called until Tuesday. It was agreed not to call the mayor Monday because of a city council meeting, attorneys said.

Daley had been scheduled to testify Dec. 26, but his appearance was delayed day to day because of Hoffman's hospitalization for a bronchial condition, and his subsequent lengthy testimony.

Hoffman, an organizer and leader of the Youth International Party—Yippies, admitted on the stand Friday that he wrote in a book after the 1968 convention that he had urged anti-war demonstrators to kidnap a Chicago police official at the time of the convention.

However, he said the language in his books was different from that he used at the time of the convention, and he denied that he overtly urged groups of people to be violent with police.

Hoffman and the others are charged with conspiring to incite riots at the time of the convention.

Most of his testimony Friday was in response to intense questioning by Richard G. Schultz, assistant U.S. district attorney, about two of Hoffman's books, "Revolution for the Hell of It" and "Woodstock Nation."

Midcontinent In Deep Freeze

By The Associated Press
Bitter cold weather intensified its grip on the midcontinent today and there was little prospect of an early warmup.

A separate, but equally severe, pocket of arctic cold remained centered over snow-laden sections of northern New York and New England.

Temperatures fell below freezing in 44 of the 48 adjacent states during the night. Alabama, Florida, Georgia and South Carolina had frosty spots but remained above freezing.

The Mercury topped below zero in 10 states well before daylight. These included Nevada, Colorado, the Dakotas, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, New York, Vermont and New Hampshire.

Readings near zero extended deep into the central Plains and across much of the Midwest. In its immediate outlook, the Weather Bureau said temperature changes nationwide should be minor.

Occasional snow or flurries fell from the Plains to the southern and central Appalachians. Travelers warnings were issued for mountain areas of Northeast Tennessee and southwestern Virginia due to snow.

Locally heavy snow plastered some Eastern Shore communities along Lake Michigan. Five inches fell at Muskegon, Mich., in a few hours. Upwards of 12 inches piled up there during Friday.

Drizzle dampened coastal areas of the Pacific Northwest, and showers also sprinkled parts of Florida.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 20 below zero at Sioux Falls, S.D., to 75 at Key West, Fla.

Some other reports: Boston 20 clear, New York 29 cloudy, Philadelphia 29 cloudy, Washington 33 cloudy, Atlanta 33 partly cloudy, Miami 68 partly cloudy, Detroit 17 snow, Chicago 16 snow, Minneapolis-St. Paul 4 clear, St. Louis 15 snow, Kansas City 11 clear, Dallas 32 clear, Denver 11 clear, Phoenix 35 clear, Los Angeles 52 clear, San Francisco 42 clear, Seattle 39 drizzle, Anchorage 15 clear, Honolulu 75 partly cloudy.

Resumes Operations
For seven years the property was idle and then G. Harold Earle, the oldest son of Dr. Earle — he's 80 now — restarted operations in 1950 with a small electric band mill. Today the huge former flooring factory houses wood industries, but the big mills are gone.

And so many of the auxiliary buildings of the great wood industry complex, but the old combination office building and residence stands here, filled with memorials to nearly 90 years of sawmilling and wood manufacturing. It is amazing that so much has been preserved in its original setting and Harold Earle wonders what had best be done with it. That it would make a fine museum is obvious, but who would sponsor it?

Michigan College Chooses Dr. Davis As New President
TRAVERSE CITY (AP)—Dr. James M. Davis, 55, has been chosen from a field of 63 candidates to become Northwestern Michigan College's new president.

Davis, currently provost for the U.S. International University in San Diego, Calif., is scheduled to take office Feb. 1 succeeding Preston N. Tanis, who resigned last summer.

Tanis had been president of the college since it was organized in 1951 as Michigan's first community college offering a two-year program in liberal arts and sciences for students planning to complete their education at four-year schools.

Davis directed the University of Michigan's International Center from 1954 to 1964 before becoming vice president of the Institute of International Education in New York.

Old Lumber Co. Office Is Historical Treasure

BY JEAN WORTH
Of Panax Newspapers

HERMANVILLE — Within the next few years a historical opportunity will be won or lost here.

There will be a final decision on the fate of the Wisconsin Land & Lumber Co. headquarters building.

It is unique in Michigan and probably in the northern lake states, a remarkably well preserved and furnished building from Michigan's great lumbering past. A truckload of its records of company operations up to 1900 have been given to the Michigan Historical Collections and carted off to Ann Arbor, but its big masonry vault still is chock full of things that historians and antique dealers do on.

The building has an impressive exterior — it's big and its gingerbread is genteel — but the surprises are inside. Nowhere else in the lake states can you step backward to 1883 so completely. There have been some changes in the building since it was built 87 years ago, but the original building is substantially intact and many of its furnishings date to its opening.

Saved Business
Greatly augmenting this horde of antiques are many of the furnishings from the great house of the late Dr. George W. Earle, a New York State physician who wed Emma Meyer of Fond du Lac, Wis., and took over the sawmill business of her father, C. J. L. Meyer, when it was forced into receivership in the crash of 1890. Dr. Earle saved the business and built it into one of the biggest wood industries in the Lake States.

The Wisconsin Land & Lumber Co., owned nearly everything in Hermansville and it was the largest community in Menominee County outside of the City of Menominee. The company had several large sawmills, a hardwood flooring factory, a shingle mill, charcoal kilns, and its own railroad at Hermansville and 60,000 acres of timberland to supply the logs for its manufactures. Meyer started the operation in 1878 to supply material for his sash and door factory at Fond du Lac and the pine mill (last of three on the same site) stopped operations in 1943.

While in Topeka, Marler studied at Washburn University, where he received the B.A. degree in history. Before entering the museum field, Marler was a commercial artist for seven years.

As curator of the State Historical Museum, Marler is responsible for the exhibits and collections at the Historical Commission Museum in Lansing, as well as the displays in the traveling Historymobile. He will also continue the Commission policy of offering technical assistance to the many local museums throughout the state.

State Museum Curator Named
James Marler was appointed curator of the Michigan Historical Commission Museum in Lansing, it is announced by Harry Kelsey, director of the Commission. Marler is a native of Kansas, and for the past four years he served as curator of exhibits at the Kansas State Historical Society Museum, Topeka.

There were four cisterns on each side of the building to supply it with water, and although it has a huge, two-story fieldstone vault, it rests not on a stone foundation, but upon big cedar posts set in a ground of lime and gravel. Yet the original pine floors in the basement, set on the ground, are intact.

Before there was a community of Iron Mountain this building had the only bathtub in Hermansville. When an ambitious lumberjack asked to use it he was told that permission would have to be granted by the board of directors of the Wisconsin Land & Lumber Co. Without waiting he found a washtub.

Carney Classes Resume Monday
CARNEY — Leno R. Pierpon, superintendent of the Carney-Nadeau school district, said today that home economics classes will be held in the main section of the school building when classes resume Monday.

The home economics department in an adjoining building was destroyed by fire recently. Pierpon also said that hot lunch will be served as usual.

U.P. Serviceman Among GI Fatal
WASHINGTON (AP) — A Michigan soldier was among three servicemen killed recently in fighting in Vietnam, the Defense Department said Friday.

Killed was Spec. 4 Thomas V. Pakula, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo S. Pakula of Stambaugh.

Dr. Ralph Lewis said there is a large number of high school teachers not teaching their major subject.

He said the last figures he knew of had shown "only 40 per cent of the high school teachers teaching English had a degree in English."

He added "We know of many situations in which the coach in the high school is teaching biology or English or history and is not very much interested in what he is doing."

Doctor Lewis concluded "if real education reform occurs in the State of Michigan, nobody will teach a subject for which he is not prepared."

His remarks came on the M-S-U television program, "Education in the News."

Manistique Youth Critically Hurt In Vietnam War

MANISTIQUE — Pfc. David R. Gould is in critical condition in an Army hospital in Vietnam from injuries received Dec. 27, according to information received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Gould, Rte. 1, Manistique.

The Defense Dept. notified the Goulds on Dec. 29 that their 20-year-old son was the victim of a booby trap, some type of land mine, which exploded. Officials said both of Gould's legs were amputated above the knees as a result of the explosion.

In addition, the Manistique soldier has severe lacerations of his left forearm and hand, severe lacerations of his left cheek and scalp and head injuries.

Pfc. Gould, who serves with Co. D, 2nd Battalion, 12th Infantry, has been in Vietnam since Nov. 3. He entered the Army last August and completed basic training and eight-weeks RTO training at Fort Polk, La.,

Pfc. David R. Gould before he was assigned to Vietnam.

Rep. Charles Varnum (R-Manistique) was instrumental in obtaining additional details on the extent of Pfc. Gould's injuries by contacting the Defense Dept. in Washington, according to the Gould family.

Refuge Opens For Fishing

SENEY — The Seney National Wildlife Refuge is open for ice fishing and spearing.

This winter, as in past years, all pools will be open to fishing through February 28, 1970. Access may be gained through the headquarters road or the sub-headquarters road south of Germfask and the Driggs River Road located eight miles west of Seney.

Northern pike are found in all the pools and good numbers of perch are also present.

State fishing regulations apply to all ice fishing and spearing on the area. In addition to these, refuge regulations prohibit the use of minnows for fishing. However, any other live bait or artificial lures may be used.

Anyone desiring additional information regarding fishing on Seney Refuge may contact the refuge office located on Highway M-77 between Germfask and Seney.

Fatal Stabbing At Rock Festival Filmed By Firm

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A professional movie company filmed the fatal stabbing of a teen-aged youth while covering a Rolling Stones rock concert here last month, Sheriff Frank Madigan says.

"It's the first real lead we've had, in the case," Madigan said Friday.

Producers of the movie company say the stabbing of Meredith Hunter, 18, of Berkeley Dec. 6 occurred in front of their cameras, Madigan said. He did not identify the company, but said it was based in New York.

"We've got to blow up the pictures and take a good hard look at everything in them—then we can work from there," the sheriff said.

Madigan did not comment whether Hunter's assailant could be readily identified from the movie, which had been filmed at the British rock group's request.

Holiday Traffic Toll Reaches 284

By The Associated Press
The New Year's weekend traffic death rose to 284 today.

Occasional snow or flurries swept highways in the region from the Midwest to the Appalachians. Warnings to travelers were in effect for parts of Tennessee and Virginia.

The count of traffic deaths began at 6 p. m. Wednesday and will end at midnight Sunday.

As the long New Year's weekend draws to a close, at least eleven persons have died in accidents on Michigan highways.

Three persons were killed in a brutal auto crash Friday when two cars collided in Brownstown Township at Gibraltar, south of Detroit.

A court ruled that he could indeed, because it was based not only on a moral obligation but on an original legal obligation as well. Even though a legal obligation had been barred by the statute of limitations, the court said it was enough of an "extra" to justify making the customer live up to his promise.

Children Doing Well On Communal Farms

BOSTON (AP) — Children who don't fight, babies who don't wail, teen-agers who don't cause problems?

That's what you find on the communal farms in Israel, says a University of Chicago psychologist, Dr. Bruno Bettelheim.

He told the American Association for the Advancement of Science about the unusual children at its annual meeting Monday.

On the communal farms, or kibbutzim, child rearing is a communal activity. Parents place newborn children in the children's quarters on the farm, where they live until 18 years old.

The parents and children visit with each other two hours a day. Children of both sexes sleep in the same room and shower together until they are 14 on some farms, 18 on others. Yet, Dr. Bettelheim said, there is no sexual promiscuity on the farms, inhabited by about 100,000 Israelis.

The farms have no more than a few hundred members each and all decisions are made by a general assembly of all members. Men and women share equally in the work of the farms.

Ordinary social evils are rooted in selfishness, Bettelheim said, and on these communal farms there is nothing to be selfish about—not even parents—since there is no private property.

"Children belong to the entire community," he said.

In school there are no grades and no competition to see who comes out best, he said. "The children help each other and do not push ahead. To push ahead is one of the vilest things in the value system of the kibbutz."

This type of rearing, Bettelheim said, has produced youths who do not drop out of school, use drugs, become sexually promiscuous or homosexual, or commit vandalism.

From early in life the children start making a contribution to the communal life of the farm, because they have their own assigned tasks and meet and make democratic decisions.

They also do a great deal for each other without being told, Bettelheim said. For example, the younger children are toilet trained by older children.

On his visits to these farms, Bettelheim said, he never once saw an instance of physical fighting.

The children have no possessions to fight over, since everything is shared, and there are no social distinctions, he pointed out.

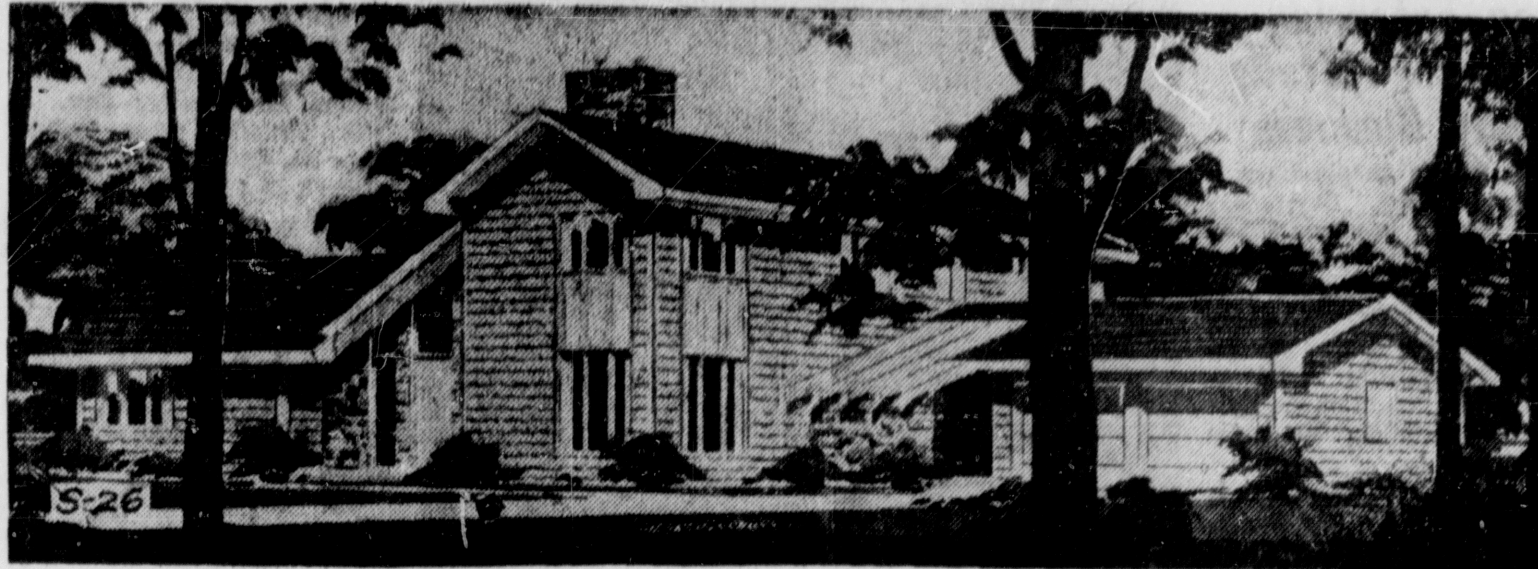

There is no bullying among the children—"they are comrades, not competitors."

Nearly all of the kibbutzim children "grow into hardworking, self respecting, well satisfied solid citizens of their communities," Bettelheim said.

Some 500,000 of Ghana's 8,400,000 people live in Accra, a capital with a modern core but sprawling suburbs.

The city's fast-growing outskirts have been described as a "taggle of brown grass plots, barbed wire, scaffolding, and boxy houses dumped down like forgotten parcels."

Two-Story Is Distinctive

DELIBERATELY DESIGNED as something different in two-story architecture, the center portion of this four-bedroom house includes three bedrooms on the upper floor. The master bedroom is in the main floor wing at the left; the two-car garage is at the right.

By ANDY LANG

There are several unusual design ideas in the latest House of the Week.

The most apparent departure from normal two-story architecture is the roof line of the exterior, giving the contemporary plan an individual character. But there are other features which add dramatic interior interest, among them a two-story entrance foyer with decorative translucent panels framed by vertical stone piers.

In the rear, there's an intimate outdoor dining terrace, open to the sky but enclosed on four sides in atrium fashion. Sliding glass doors from the dining room makes this terrace an informal extension of the dining room. With well-conceived decor, it can be the most attractive space in the house. Architect Herman H. York suggests the terrace walls as excellent for the display of sculpture or ture or bas relief.

Another interesting planning idea in a two-story house is the location of the owners' bedroom on the first floor and completely away from the other bedrooms. An adjacent library inasmuch as it is near the foyer. The family room has been screened from the front foyer, using the stair and fireplace as a buffer, yet convenient for those who want to go directly from the foyer to the patio. The resilient flooring of the family room flows into that of the kitchen, reducing maintenance in this high traffic area.

FLOOR PLANS: In-line placement of the living room and dining room provides large area for formal entertaining, with dining terrace an extra feature. Family room has sliding glass doors leading to a rear patio to take care of indoor and outdoor requirements.

A feature popular on the West Coast is the large sliding window in the kitchen with its pass-through to the patio, convenient for the garden party or barbecue. The laundry, mud closet, lavatory and pantry—all necessary in a good place these days—are in a strategic location between the kitchen and the two-car garage. The garage is large enough to store garden tools and appliances.

On the upper level is an eye-catching, open - balcony hallway overlooking the high foyer. Here, three bedrooms are provided with a split bathroom, in which four fixtures permit dual use.

There is a generous use of stone and glass in the well-balanced front elevation. The low, long garage wing is proportioned to complement the owners' bedroom wing and two-storied center section. The windows in the structure are placed asymmetrically to provide balance with the larger decorative panels of the foyer. A massive stone chimney, somewhat down the roof, adds interest to the intriguing exterior.

Left-Handers Get Right Buying Tips

NEW YORK (AP) — June Gittleman is building her business by catering to a neglected minority group — the 15 to 20 per cent of the population that is left handed.

A southpaw herself, Miss Gittleman's new East Side shop — called, naturally, The Left Hand — offers items ranging from a left-handed mustache cup to a clock with hands that move counterclockwise.

She also stocks left-handed fishing reels, baseball gloves, teapots, potato peelers, clothes irons and scissors, plus a record of Ravel's Piano Concerto for the Left Hand.

She even has a letter from the postmaster in Left Hand, W. Va., enclosing the local postmark and informing her that "several" of its residents are, naturally, left-handed.

Legislator Unveils New School Aid Plan

LANSING (AP) — A Republican state representative has unveiled a plan designed to raise a billion dollars for school aid.

Rep. Roy Spencer, R-Attica, said his plan is based in part on a new income tax which would be raised and controlled by local school districts.

Spencer said he thinks Michigan school financing problems can be solved through two steps: Raising the state personal income tax rate to 4 per cent with corresponding increases for corporations and banks; and topping that off with an optional local income tax of as much as 2 per cent.

Spencer said property taxes could be lowered by as much as 16.5 mills compared to the current statewide average of 24 mills.

Spencer claims support for his plan has come from citizens across the state and from groups as diverse as the United Auto Workers union and the Michigan Manufacturers Association.

The House Republican caucus has not adopted Spencer's plan, which gives substantial property tax relief to outstate farmers—nor discussed it in detail, he said.

The 1970-71 school aid expenditure under Spencer's plan would total $1.384 billion. That is about $380 million more than the Senate-passed bill now before the House.

Spencer's plan also excludes any parochial provision. "I figure, if I leave it out an amendment will be offered on the floor," Spencer said. "There are either 56 votes (a majority) for it or there aren't. I personally don't think there are."

Asked about the old legislative shibboleth against voting taxes in an election year, Spencer replied, "I think it's almost immoral to duck an issue. I personally would rather campaign on a position of solving an issue than ducking it."

Robbery Suspects Face Felony Trial

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Two Lansing men have been released on their own recognizance after standing mute to charges of entering the Lake-Oscoda State Bank at Luther nearly two years ago.

Pleas of innocent were entered for William G. Houseman, 33, and Noble Ray Sego during their arraignment Wednesday. They are formally charged with entering the bank with intent to commit a felony.

Navy Rules Out Salvage Plans For U.S. Vessel

HONOLULU (AP) — The Navy is giving up attempts to salvage the explosive-packed and flaming munitions ship Badger State that "could blow again any time," a service spokesman says.

The vessel is adrift in the Pacific 1,500 miles northwest of Hawaii.

The 40-man crew of the merchant ship carrying bombs and rockets to Vietnam abandoned her a week ago when heavy seas caused the cargo to break loose in the holds. Fourteen were rescued and the others were presumed lost.

The Navy's fleet tug Abnaki radioed Thursday that it moved to within two miles of the Badger State and saw yellow and orange flames coming from the aft section, a Navy spokesman said.

Aboard the freighter are explosives equivalent to 2,000 tons of TNT.

The Abnaki, with an 85-man crew, was to keep the derelict under watch from five to seven miles away and warn any passing ships of the danger, the Navy said.

Area Extension Groups To Study Family Business

Each family should have a "Personal Affairs" Day, a day to get family business affairs in order. Because January, the first month of the year is a good time to start, Extension Homemakers' Study Group leaders are meeting at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday, Jan. 6 at the Delta County Building to begin this project.

Leaders will discuss the use of two helpful bulletins, "Business Facts for Families," and "Record of Important Family Papers." Each group member will receive a copy for her family.

"The most important business affairs a family has are its own." Families should consider setting aside a day for taking stock of personal financial affairs, checking all valuable papers, finding out what they have and where important papers are located. The bulletins to be distributed at the January group meeting will be helpful to family members in handling their personal affairs.

The Delta County Extension Homemakers Council will also meet at the same time. Mrs. Art Meyers is chairman and will conduct this part of the meeting with the assistance of other officers, Mrs. Thomas Hite and Mrs. Harvey Gasman.

Top Beef Round Steak With Cheese

Start with beef round steak, pound it, braise to fork tenderness, sprinkle with grated cheese and you have Beef Steak Fromage.

Steak what? Fromage! It's the French word for cheese, hence appropriate for these individual servings of round steak that come to the table crested with cheese to provide a flavorsome entree.

According to Reba Staggs, home economist for the National Live Stock and Meat Board, beef round steak is frequently separated into its different muscles and sold as top round and bottom round. These cuts can be used for Steak Fromage, allowing 1 1/2 to 2 pounds of either for the one large round steak.

Beef Steak Fromage

- 1 large beef round steak, cut 1/2 to 3/4 inch thick
- 1/4 cup flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
- 3 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 3/4 cup water
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 1/2 cup grated Cheddar cheese
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Remove bone and pound steak to 1/4 to 1/2 inch thickness. Cut steak into 4 to 6 pieces. Combine flour, salt. Dredge steak in seasoned flour. Sprinkle any remaining flour over steak. Brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add water and onion. Cover tightly and cook slowly 1 to 1 1/2 hours or until tender. Sprinkle cheese and parsley over meat. Cover and heat 2 to 3 minutes longer or until cheese is melted. 4 to 6 servings.

Tiger Fans Mad At Gina

LONDON (AP) — Wildlife enthusiasts criticized Gina Lollobrigida, the fur-wearing movie star, today because of her tiger skin maxi-coat.

New Record Set In Air Traffic Gains

By CLINT DUNATHAN

Continuing increase in passenger, mail and freight volume moved by North Central Airlines set new records at Escanaba City Airport in 1969, it is reported by Peter Zimmer, North Central manager here.

The number of passengers increased by 3,850 for the year -- from 22,634 in 1968 to last year's record 26,484.

As in the year before, the number of passengers getting on and off at Escanaba were about the same: Approximately 11,000 in each category in 1968 and slightly more than 13,000 on and off last year at Escanaba.

December was a record month despite some weather problems and schedules canceled because of storms and snow, with 2,309 on and off this past month compared to 1,775 for the same month a year ago.

DC-9 Service

Gains were noted in total cargo originating at Escanaba, with a reported 153,893 pounds recorded in air mail, first class mail, express and freight in 1969. This total compared to 145,388 pounds the year before.

There have been some problems with the field since wintertime snow conditions came, but "the city is doing a real good job" in meeting the needs of North Central DC-9's, said Zimmer.

For example, because of the storm on Friday the evening flight of the jet had to be canceled; but snow removal crews of the city were out early today and the DC-9 arrived and departed nearly on schedule this morning.

A higher standard of maintenance is required for jet planes than for Convals and anticipating this requirement the city last summer purchased a used snowblower from the Detroit Metropolitan Airport. This machine, plus the city's other snow removal equipment, is doing the job -- although the winter so far has been more than usually difficult because of the frequent snowfalls.

Airport Improved

The DC-9 left Escanaba airport this morning with a capacity load of 98 passengers originating from Escanaba and Marquette.

The year 1969 was notable in air service progress in the Escanaba area.

The city sponsored the construction of a new terminal building that is the finest in the region; an airport improvement dedication program was held with the Air Force Thunderbirds the chief attraction for thousands of people who attended; and North Central Airlines began 100-passenger DC-9 jet plane service to Escanaba and Marquette on Oct. 28.

Another advance in air travel was the inauguration by Trans Michigan Airlines of direct "across the lake" flights to Lower Michigan. Their service started in November with 10-passenger planes.

Young Waiter Prime Suspect In Kidnaping

LONDON (AP) — Police charged an 18-year-old waiter with criminal deception today in connection with the disappearance of a British publisher's wife but said they were not nearer finding the missing woman.

William A. Peat was brought handcuffed into court at suburban Wimbledon, within a mile of the home from which Australian-born Mrs. Muriel McKay disappeared five nights ago.

Peat was charged with attempting to get $1,200 from Alex McKay, the missing woman's husband. No details of the case were disclosed in court, Peat, who was not required to enter a plea at the preliminary hearing, was ordered held without bail until Jan. 12.

Detectives say they still are treating Mrs. McKay's disappearance as a kidnap case.

But they also are investigating the possibility that she vanished for her own reasons.

McKay has been under constant medical care since his wife disappeared. He started a new job last month as a director of two London newspapers, the Sunday News of the World and the Daily Sun, both published by fellow Australian Rupert Murdoch.

Police investigations have been plagued by a series of hoax calls, some demanding ransom, others purporting to tell where Mrs. McKay could be found. Every one has been checked out by the hundreds of detectives now on the case. Ever one has led nowhere.

New Trial Bid Denied To Hoffa

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa, who claimed the government used wiretap evidence to convict him of jury tampering, was denied a new trial here Friday.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge Frank W. Wilston said that evidence produced during a 6½-day hearing for Hoffa last August "clearly established that the government conducted no unlawful surveillance" of Hoffa or three other defendants.

The hearing had been ordered by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Hoffa is serving an eight-year sentence at the federal prison in Lewisburg, Pa. He has served three years of the term.

The federal government had admitted at the August hearing that it had eavesdropped on some conversations connected with the Hoffa case. In ordering the hearing, the Supreme Court told Wilson: "The district court must develop the relevant facts and decide if the government's electronic eavesdropping surveillance was unlawful."

Hoffa, Ewing King and Thomas Ewing Parks of Nashville and Larry Campbell of Detroit were convicted by a jury here in 1964 on jury tampering charges. The charges grew out of a 1962 federal trial in Nashville in which Hoffa was accused of conspiracy.

U.P. Traffic Toll Lowest In 4 Years

For the first time in four years, traffic fatalities in the Upper Peninsula dropped below the 100 mark, with Delta County showing a 25 per cent decline.

The total for the Peninsula was 85, a drop of 15 from the 1968 total and the lowest since 67 highway deaths were tabulated in 1965.

One hundred and one fatalities were recorded in both 1966 and 1967.

Delta County's total for 1969 was six, compared to eight in 1968. Two of the Delta County traffic deaths were motorcycle operators.

Only two U. P. counties showed increases over 1968. They were Alger and Baraga. Alger was up from one death in 1968 to three in 1969.

The lower traffic toll in the U. P. was achieved in spite of increased tourist traffic during the summer and in the face of a statewide upturn.

The traffic death count for each county in the U. P. follows: Alger 3, Baraga 10, Chippewa 8, Delta 6, Dickinson 3, Gogebic 7, Houghton 9, Iron 3, Luce 3, Keweenaw 1, Mackinac 2, Marquette 15, Menominee 3, Ontonagon 9, and Schoolcraft 8.

Included in the 1969 list of victims were three persons riding snowmobiles, 11 pedestrians and three bicycle riders.

During the year, the highway death toll ranged from two in February to 13 in July.

Oakland Target Of Mystery Blast

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Police say a saboteur risked death Friday by blowing up three transformers, darkening 3,600 homes and businesses.

The explosion was the latest in a series of mysterious bombings and attacks against Pacific Gas & Electric Co. facilities since March 1968.

Police said whoever was responsible for the Friday explosion left dynamite fragments and a battery-operated detonator at the scene, "risking death in even setting foot inside the power station."

The bombing destroyed 12,000-volt transformers. Police said the "slightest contact with them would have caused instant incineration."

Service was resumed about 90 minutes later.

The attacks have included the destruction of a 70-foot tower, several smaller towers, cables, meters, a branch office of PG&E, and other equipment in at least a dozen known incidents. No arrests have been made.

Gladstone Girl Hurt In Mishap

A Gladstone girl is listed in good condition this morning at St. Francis Hospital where she is recuperating from injuries received when the snowmobile she was riding on fell into a hole and crashed.

Hlene Williams, 15, a passenger on a snow machine being driven by William George, 18, from Lansing, suffered back injuries when she fell off the snow machine as it sank into a hole, police reported.

State Police said the accident happened on private property and that the driver suffered minor cuts and bruises.

General Motors Plans Shutdowns During January

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp., reported it will close 12 of its 23 assembly plants for two days early this year to further bring its new car inventories into line.

GM acted a day after Chrysler Corp., said it would close all of its eight assembly plants for one week in January.

In a prepared statement, GM said its closings for two-day periods would be made "to reflect market requirements and shifting customer preferences for different models."

The giant automaker also closed 11 plants during two working days last month and 15 plants for two days this week.

In the new plan, six GM assembly plants will be closed Jan. 12 and Jan. 13. Six others are to be shutdown for Jan. 30 and Feb. 2.

Regular schedules will continue at GM's 11 other assembly plants.

Super-Charged Hijackers Head For Cuban Isle

LIMA (AP) — A hijacked airliner that five Brazilian revolutionaries kept control of for 27 hours at Lima's airport left today for Cuba. It will stop on the way to refuel in Panama.

The airliner was hijacked Thursday and, after it landed in Lima to refuel, the pilot said he was unable to restart the plane because an engine wouldn't turn over. Mechanics installed a new battery that was flown in from Chile and arrived late Friday night.

The hijackers remained inside keeping the 21 passengers and crew of seven under guard with their pistols. Riot police ringed the twin-engine Caravelle as it sat under a tropical sun on the tarmac.

There was no air conditioning because of the mechanical failure. Meals were brought on board.

Flight engineer Silvio Eduardo de Carvalho Froes told the Brazilian Embassy in Lima that if the plane could be started, the flight would continue to its next stop at Panama, where special maintenance equipment for the French-built airliner is available. From there, he said, it would continue to Cuba.

Air Pollution Consortium Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — An air pollution control consortium will be created Monday by the University of North Carolina, Duke University and North Carolina State University, the News and Observer's Washington Bureau said Friday.

It will be the first operation of its kind in the nation, the Raleigh newspaper said.

The bureau said the partnership agreement will be signed by top officials of the universities at a ceremony in the Research Triangle headquarters of the National Air Pollution Control Administration.

Gov. Bob Scott and federal air pollution controls officials are scheduled to attend.

Robert Finch, secretary of Health, Welfare and Education, is expected to announce the agreement as a prototype of regional antipollution education which the government will seek across the nation, the bureau said.

It added the agreement will call for three-campus operation in exchanging information, faculty members and services relating to air pollution.

Under the proposal, it was said, the three institutions would pledge that technical services on air pollution control would be made available to communities, industries, and citizens groups fighting pollution.

The bureau said the Nixon administration will give the consortium a big boost as one of the first anti-pollution moves since the President's announcement that he intends to make the war on pollution a major domestic task during the new decade.

Rev. Haas, 34, was born and raised in Ventura, N.D. and graduated from high school in Ashley, N.D. He holds a BA degree from Sioux Falls College, S.D. which he earned in 1957; a BA in Divinity from the North American Baptist Seminary, also in Sioux Falls, which he received in 1960; and won a Master's in sociology from the University of South Dakota, Vermillion, S.D., in 1969.

New Regulations Asked For State Charity Units

LANSING (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley said today that a survey of 70 charitable organizations in Michigan showed that for every dollar collected, some spent as high as 96 cents on charitable purposes while others spent as little as four cents.

"The results range from the encouraging and satisfying to the startling and shocking," Kelley said at a news conference.

Kelley said he plans no prosecutions at this time although illegal use of charity money is a misdemeanor.

The attorney general said he is ordering a revision of the rules and regulations governing charitable organizations, which are regulated by his office.

The revision, he said, will require a uniform financial statement giving detailed information in an organized way of their financial activities.

Under this method, Kelley said, his office will be able to determine exactly how much money is being spent for charitable purposes, for administration and for advertising and collecting funds.

The new rules, he said, will require a specific portion of the income of the charities to be spent for charitable purposes.

He said this probably will be set at 70 per cent although modification of this figure may be allowed if it is proven to be in the public interest.

Kelley said a team of lawyers and auditors from his office reviewed the financial reports of 70 charitable organizations which had figures available over a period of the past three years.

The average spent by these organizations for charitable purposes, he noted, was 71.3 cents of each dollar collected.

The evaluation of the figures now on hand is very difficult, he added because of "the jungle of different reporting methods."

Nearly every week, Kelley said his office turns down license requests from charitable organizations which do not meet present standards.

Kelley said the review showed a substantial number of charita-

Mary Jo Alone At Time Of Accident, Book Says

BOSTON (AP) — A book published today contends that Mary Jo Kopechne was alone, driving Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's car when it carried her to her death off a bridge on Chappaquiddick Island last summer.

The book, "The Bridge at Chappaquiddick Island" by Jack Olsen, a senior editor of Time, Inc., is being issued by Little Brown & Co. three days before the opening of an inquest into her death.

Olsen, who made investigations on Chappaquiddick and Martha's Vineyard after Miss Kopechne's death, contended Sen. Kennedy alighted from the car after a deputy sheriff approached.

The writer said Kennedy wanted to avoid embarrassment and misinterpretation of his presence with Miss Kopechne, a Washington secretary who had worked for his brother, the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y.

Sen. Kennedy was not immediately available for comment on the Olsen book, accounts of which were published in Boston newspapers.

"It would have been a very logical step," Olsen wrote, "for Kennedy to stop the car between the high walls of underbrush, jump out and tell Mary Jo to circle back and pick him up in a few minutes if the policeman did not give chase.

"It does not take the imagination of a dime novelist to see Mary Jo Kopechne at the wheel of the car, struggling to control two tons of equipment on a strange road while her own adrenal flowed at high pressure."

Olsen theorized that the girl, barely able to see over the dashboard, would have been unable to see that the hump-backed bridge veered to the left as she approached and would have continued on a straight line-off into the water.

Miss Kopechne was found dead in the car last July 10, at about the same time Sen. Kennedy was reporting the mishap to Edgartown police and about 10 hours after he said it occurred.

The senator said in a televised statement that he had been taking Miss Kopechne to catch a ferry and had lost his way. He said he struggled free from the auto but was unable to rescue the girl.

The senator pleaded guilty in District Court at Edgartown to a charge of leaving the scene of an accident and was sentenced to a two-month jail term, suspended for a year.

The inquest beginning Monday at Edgartown is to determine the legal cause of Miss Kopechne's death.

Deputy Sheriff Christopher Look Jr. has reported he saw what he believes was Kennedy's car with at least two people inside about 12:45 a.m., but the car moved down the road toward the bridge as he stepped toward it.

Olsen theorized that Kennedy was not aware the girl had gone off the bridge and walked back to a party at a rented Chappaquiddick cottage that preceded the accident.

Fayette Youth Injured When Hit By Truck

Emery Rochefort, 17, of Fayette was taken to the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital after being run over by a pick-up truck on County Road 483, Fairbanks Township, Delta County on Wednesday at 11:40 p.m.

State police said Rochefort was lying in the road when he was struck by a vehicle driven by Douglas Casey, 28, also of Fayette. Rochefort's snowmobile was parked along the shoulder of the road.

Rochefort's personal physician was unavailable for comment but the injured boy is reportedly recovering from his injuries.

John F. Bonifas, 25, 140 E. Elk St., lost control of his car and went off County Rd. 439 in Manistique Township at 9:45 p.m. Dec. 31, troopers said. Bonifas was not injured and no citation was issued.

An automobile driven by Richard Bruseau, 54, Gulliver, backed into a parked car in the parking lot of the Forest Inn, U. S. 2, Mueller Township, at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 31, state officers said. The parked car was owned by Duane Campbell of Bay City. Campbell was cited for no insurance proof.

Under investigation by troopers is the theft of a tire, wheel and battery from a car owned by Carl Dahlvich, Rte. 1. The automobile was parked in front of the Dahlvich home when the theft occurred on Dec. 31. In addition, a radio was also reported taken from the Dahlvich home.

Peter J. Hood, 17, 700 Range St., was ticketed by Public Safety officers for driving left of centerline after his car struck a parked car owned by John T. Strable, Cherry St., at 12:45 a.m. on Jan. 1. Officers said the mishap occurred in the 600 block of Arbutus Ave. Damage was reported to the front of the Strable car and some damage to the left front of the Hood car.

Cars driven by Ruth Ann Holmberg of Manistique and Millard Reno of Cooks side-swiped on River St. at 7:20 p.m. Jan. 1, city officers said. No tickets were issued.

Health Insurance Firm Rapped For 'Discrimination'

DETROIT (AP) — An official of the Michigan State Chiropractic Association has accused Michigan Blue Cross and Blue Shield with "maintaining a policy of discrimination against thousands of subscribers" who cannot receive reimbursement for treatment by the state's 788 licensed chiropractors.

Dr. Weldon Derifield, a director of the association, attacked Blue Cross and Blue Shield for asking for rate increases "while continuing the extravagant inflationary and discriminatory practices of the past."

"Despite its spiraling rates," Derifield said, "Blue Shield still keeps its nose up in the air when it comes to patients who go to chiropractors for treatment."

"For example, if you're a Blue Shield subscriber and you come to me, a chiropractor, for correction of a back ailment," Derifield said, "your Blue Shield policy forces you to pay me out of your own pocket since it doesn't permit payment to chiropractors."

"So," Derifield continued in a New Year's Day statement, "by excluding a chiropractor from receiving payment for his services, Blue Shield is depriving you of the freedom to choose the specialist you want."

Chiropractors specialize in treatment of ailments through manipulation of the spinal column.

"The price cuts reflect our concern about the squeeze on customer pocketbooks and budgets," explained S. W. Allred, Ward vice president. He did not comment specifically on prices in the firm's spring-summer catalogue.

A Sears spokesman said the majority of price reductions ranged from 5 to 10 per cent, while "some items are reduced a few cents and others cut more than 25 per cent."

Montgomery Ward & Co. said prices in its winter sale book being distributed to 4.5 million customers this week were reduced up to 60 per cent on clothing and 40 per cent on household items.

"The price cuts reflect our concern about the squeeze on customer pocketbooks and budgets," explained S. W. Allred, Ward vice president. He did not comment specifically on prices in the firm's spring-summer catalogue.

121 Stranded After Ski Lift Falters

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — A ski lift cable car containing 121 passengers was stranded 200 feet in the air Friday by a power failure.

Some of the passengers were lowered to the ground during the 3½-hour rescue operation, spokesman Hans Von Norde said.

Von Norde said the power failure, which lasted 10 minutes, caused the car's automatic brake system to jam, entangling the car in the three power lines.

"We sent coffee, doughnuts, and a little wine to them and then began lowering a few of them in straitjacket-like devices. The big majority were brought down in a smaller car, though," he said.

Many fascinating subjects are being discussed today—in church. If this surprises you, it only goes to show that you haven't been attending church lately. To keep in touch with this challenging world, start going not only to regular services but to some of the special discussions in your church.
